

THE HOTEL IVANHOE

FERNDALE, CALIFORNIA

Welcome to the Hotel Ivanhoe, located in Ferndale, California. Owners Dave and Barbara Mogni refer to the historic hotel as a “dinner and bed” as opposed to a “bed and breakfast”. The Ivanhoe is Ferndale’s original hotel, and offers historic accommodations for the traveler who seeks lodgings with true vintage character. Start your evening in our restaurant where Dave’s father, Lino, will prepare a scrumptious dinner and dessert for you. Then join in with the musical festivities in the saloon, or grab a book and sit by the fire in our comfortable lobby. Later, stroll up to your spacious guest room furnished with Victorian antiques.

Some rooms have brass beds and clawfoot tubs for that romantic touch, while other rooms feature king size beds and roomy showers. Which ever room you choose, you’ll be sure to enjoy your stay at the Hotel Ivanhoe in Ferndale, California.

The Victorian Village of Ferndale has long been recognized as Northern California’s best preserved Victorian small town. Main Street boasts a fine collection of historic commercial buildings and throughout the town and surrounding farmland you will find stunning examples of Victorian mansions and other historic homes. Located near the rugged and scenic North Coast seashore and surrounded by giant redwood forests, Ferndale remains an unspoiled gem. Here life takes on a slower pace and people take time to enjoy the beautiful sunsets, the fresh air, and the many recreational opportunities that are nearby such as hiking, canoeing, hunting, fishing, bike riding and photography.

Ferndale California is located about 20 miles south of Eureka, in Humboldt County, just a short drive off of Highway 101. Ferndale’s convenient location makes it ideal to use as a base for exploring the pacific coast and the giant redwoods. Our weather is moderate year round which makes us ideal for those seeking to escape the cold of winter or the heat of summer. But come visit us for the Kinetic Sculpture Races or for our Victorian Christmas or any other of our special events and you’ll see why so many people fall in love with Ferndale the moment they arrive here.
